SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CHINESE AMERICAN ORAL HISTORY PROJECT

| Interviewee: Chung Moy Louie        | Interview Number: 23        |
|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Chinese Name:                       | Number of Tapes: 2          |
| Date of Interview: 5/17/79, 5/21/79 | Length: 1 Hour & 42 Minutes |
| Interviewer: Jean Wong              |                             |
| Others Present:                     |                             |
| Language: English                   |                             |
| Summarizer: Suellen Cheng           |                             |

Contents

| Time    | Counter          |  |   |                            |                  |         |
|---------|------------------|--|---|----------------------------|------------------|---------|
| Segment | Number           | Summary  | Tape No                                   | 11                         | Side             | A       |
| 1       | 000-004          | Father came from Sun Hui came to America.  | (新會),                                     | China.                     | Mother           | never   |
|         | 005-010          | Father came to San Francifather six months to get  | _   |                            |                  | ok      |
|         | 011-014          | Father worked in the farm  |   |                            |                  | ngeles. |
|         | 015-019          | In 1920's most of the farby Louie family and few W   | ming in South                             | nern Ca                    |                  |         |
|         | 020-024          | Father grew caulfilower,   | onion, carro                              | ts, cab                    | babe.            |         |
|         | 024-025          | All the Louie's came as fpeople didn't want to be  | -   | or peop                    | le. The          | rich    |
| 2       | 026-041          | Father went back to China (CML) brother to the Unit  |   | sent C                     | hung Moy         | Louie'  |
|         | 042-046          | CML was born in 1906 in Swhen he was sixteen yearsleft Los Angeles.                          |   |                            | -                |         |
|         | 047-050          | CML first went to 9th Strtunity class, after worki   |   | _                          | ol, oppo         | r-      |
|         | 051-056          | Went to Lafayette High Sc  | ~   | -                          |                  |         |
|         | 057-058          | In the morning he worked and San Julian Streets.   |   |                            | rket on          | 9th     |
|         | 059-064          | In 1922 there were Japane farmers. Chinese farmers with twenty acres or 50 the Japanese farmers deal | were small to 60 acres at                 | farmerst the m         | that de          | alt     |
| 3       | 065 - 068 | When the Chinese made endso called Lok Yip Gui Gunmeans they want to die wh                  | ough money the(音楽 第)ere they were | ey retuF& )e born. | rned towhich | China,  |

| Chung Moy Louie | Page: | 2        |
|-----------------|-------|----------|
| •               |       | l Side A |

| Time    | Counter |  |
|---------|---------|--|
| Segment | Number  | Summary  |
| 3       | 069-071 | Japanese stayed in America, so their farms grew bigger and bigger.   |
| •       | 072-080 | CML farmed in Baldwin Hill with a cousin in 1920's.  |
|         | 081-091 | Chinese did not want to stay in the United States. The landlord offered to sell the Louie family farmland for $30 an acre, the Louie family rejected the offer and replied: "You keep your land, I keep my $30. I take my $30 home to buy an acre of good land. I can pass my life easy." |
|         | 092-096 | Japanese farmlands got bigger while Chinese farms got smaller.   |
| 4       | 097-108 | After 1930, the machinery took over. Chinese gradually withdrew from farming.  |
|         | 108-109 | Chinese used to be vegetable peddlers with horse wagon.  |
|         | 110-112 | The rich people didn't go to the market, they bought vegetables from the peddler.  |
|         | 113-117 | CML sold produce to the peddlers and the small market.   |
|         | 118-119 | Pickwick was the first chain store, then Ralph's and Safeway. Safeway bought Pickwick out and became bigger and bigger.  |
|         | 120-127 | CML thought he made more than other people. In 1922, $50 to $60 was the average income. Even the bank manager was making $85 a month.   |
|         | 128-137 | CML worked hard with his uncle and reached out the whole-saler.  |
| 5       | 138-145 | He made about $225 a month.   |
|         | 146-148 | CML lived good and wore good clothes.  |
|         | 149-152 | Sent $200 to $300 a year to his family in China.   |
|         | 153-161 | The chief inspector of the immigration office was making $110 a month at that time.   |
|         | 162-168 | Louie Produce Company was the only company that was making good money. CML's brother and uncle made $300 a month.   |
|         | 169-174 | Dan Louie Jr. is the sole owner now of the Louie Produce.  |
|         | 175-181 | In the old days, one who worked in the farm got $35 to $40 a month. The ones who knew how to drive the horse to cultivate in the farm got $40 to $45 a month. Market salesmen got $18 to $20 a week.   |
| 6       | 182-191 | With the income they were able to pay the rent, to raise two children and own a car, and still had money left.   |
|         | 192-193 | CML lived around the market area.  |
|         | 194-202 | People purchased the produce with $20, $10 and $5 gold pieces before 1924.  |

| Interviewee:  | Chung   | Моу    | Louie   |
|---------------|---------|--------|---------|
| Turer Arewes: | Circing | 1.10 Å | 110 une |

| Page | : | 3      | ······································ |
|------|---|--------|--|
| mana |   | abia r | 70                                     |

| 67 | 203-215216-226227-240241-245 | CML went back to China in 1922. In 1925, he went back and got married but did not bring the wife over. The marriage was arranged through the parents.  CML went back to China again in 1930, 1936, 1947, 1966 and 1975 to visit the family.  CML's first wife passed away during the war [World War II]. He remarried in 1947. |
|--------|--|--|
| 7      | 227-240                                  | CML went back to China again in 1930, 1936, 1947, 1966 and 1975 to visit the family.  CML's first wife passed away during the war [World War II].  |
| 7      |  | We remarried in 1947   |
|        | 241-245                                  | HE TEMOTETER IN TOALS  |
|        |  | CML has two sons, one graudated from Ching Wah ( ) University, and is working in the import and export company for the government. The son is not a Communist, therefore didn't get a higher position.   |
|        | 246-268                                  | The second son came to the United States in 1952 and worked in the restaurant.   |
|        | 269-273                                  | The older son is 52 years old.   |
| 8      | 274-281                                  | CML's family was treated not too bad in China. His grand-son was allowed to attend the University.   |
|        | 282-291                                  | CML's wife is an accountant for the United Poultry Company for almost ten years.   |
|        | 292-299                                  | CML's wife was born in Bakersfield.  |
|        | 300-306                                  | CML quit school and went back to get married in China.  CML also had to support the family, therefore discontinued the education.  |
|        | 307-317                                  | Before CML was married, he lived around the market. In 1946 CML moved to Adams and Harvard, later in 1957 he moved to Crenshaw area.   |
| 9      | 318-343                                  | His daughter graduated from USC in education, but couldn't find a job, so worked in the Continental Airlines.  |
|        | 344-367                                  | CML spoke Chinese in the market all the time in the older days.  |
|        | 368-380                                  | Many languages were used in the produce market including Filipino, Chinese, etc.   |
| 10     | 381-383                                  | CML spoke Chinese with his wife and daughter.  |
|        | 384-390                                  | CML did not send his daughter to Chinese school because there was not much chance to learn. Daughter did not know much Chinese.  |
|        | 391-406                                  | CML did not have a chance to learn more Chinese after arriving in the United States because he had to work.  |
|        | 407-414                                  | CML's nephew, Elwood Louie, is a municiple judge. Elwood Louie graduated from UCLA and was a CPA. Later Elwood Louie went to night school to learn commerce law and became a lawyer.   |
| END OF | SIDE A                                   |  |

| Interviewee: | Chung Moy |  | Page: |
|--------------|-----------|--|-------|
|--------------|-----------|--|-------|

| Tape:_ | 1 | Side | В |  |
|--------|---|------|---|--|
|        |   |      |   |  |

| TimeSegment | CounterNumber | Summary   |
|-----------------|-------------------|---|
| 1               | 000-003           | Now the Louie family has about 300 cousins. Before 1920 there were about 700 cousins. There were only five which had families, the rest of them were single. They were either farmers or vegetable peddlers.  |
|                 | 004-012           | In the old days, there were mama and papa little stores.  Later, whenever there was a big chain store opened, 25 to  30 small stores closed down.   |
|                 | 013-017           | Besides Chinese peddlers, there were Greek and Jewish peddlers, and others.   |
|                 | 018-026           | In 1926 the new law prohibitted the horse on the street in  |
|                 | 027-032           | downtown. Louie Produce Company purchases produce from other farmers. Today, Dan Louie Jr. has his own vegetable farm, Chinese vegetables and Chinese grapefruit (学为甘林).  |
| 2               | 033-046           | In 1922, CML's uncle, Louie Chen, brother Louie Jin, CML, Dan Louie, all had shares in the Louie Produce Company.   |
|                 | 047-053           | CML did not put in money in the market, but his uncle gave him 25% of the profits.  |
|                 | 054-057           | The Louie Produce was founded in 1908.  |
|                 | 058-065           | CML's cousin, Louie Quan, and another person founded the City Market.   |
| 3               | 066 -0 69  | CML was the president of the Louie Family Association for fifteen years, and the president of Kong Chow ( 南 州 ) Association for two years.  |
|                 | 070-076           | Kong Chow Association has members from 新會 and 館場 山 districts.   |
|                 | 077-078           | In the old days, Kong Chow Association included five differer companies: Hui Sun ( 合 山 ), Yen Ping (点 干 ), Hok Sun ( 鶴 山 ), Sun Hui (新 會 ), and Hui Ping  |
|                 |                   | Hok Sun ( 馬 山 ), Sun Hui (末) 胃 ), and Hui Ping (  |
|                 | 079-087           | Kong Chow is the oldest Chinese organization in the United States. Founded ten years before the Chinese Consolidate Benevolent Association ( 中華 全台).  |
|                 | 088-094           | Kong Chow Family Association provided a place for the Chinese newcomers from the same village and same district, and took care of these people until they found a job. It was a very important organization for the single Chinese newcomers in the early days. |
| 4               | 095-110           | The dues were very little for the family association. The members did not pay until he get a job. The dues were   |
|                 | 111-118           | $1 to $2 a year.  CML was the president of the Louie Family Association since 1960.   |

| Interviewee: Chung Moy Louie | Page: 5        |
|------------------------------|----------------|
|                              | Tape: l Side B |
| Contents (cont'd)            |                |

| ime    | Counter |  |
|--------|---------|--|
| egment | Number  | Summary  |
| 4      | 119-125 | CML's wife is a member of CACA Women auxiliary and was the president of the group for one year.  |
|        | 126-132 | CML went to Hong Kong for the Louie Clan Association and was the honorable Chairman in 1975.   |
|        | 133-140 | CML was a member of the Board of Directors of the Chinese Consolidate Benevolent Association in 1965.  |
| 5      | 141-147 | Wong family is the biggest family in Los Angeles. LongKong four families is the second biggest.  |
|        | 148-154 | Sixty years ago, Yee family was the most powerful family.  |
|        | 155-166 | The last Tong war was about 1922 to 1923.  |
|        | 167-172 | Gambling was always the cause of tong wars.  |
|        | 173-177 | In the old days, most of the Chinese were single men and had no place to go. Therefore they gambled a lot. After 1931, before the War, there was no more gambling. |
| 6      | 178-190 | Most Chinese played lottery (日為票).   |
|        | 191-197 | About 25 to 30% of the Chinese gambled away their money. The others saved money and send it back to China.   |
|        | 198-202 | In the old days, some Chinese did not speak English, sothey did not trust the bank. They kept the money at homeor in a friend's safe.                      |
|        | 203-209 | CML put his money in the bank, because he went to school and knew English.   |
|        | 210-222 | During the Depression [in the 1930's], everybody had a hard time. Chinese were used to it, therefore could get by easier.  |
| 7      | 223-234 | Chinese could take care of themselves pretty well. Even though they didn't make much money, they did not spend much money.   |
|        | 235-241 | CML did not get his automobile until 1940, because he did not need it. He worked and lived near the market. He used the street cars.                               |
|        | 242-251 | Before the second World War, the average income for a person was $100. The average saving could be 20 to 25% of thincome.   |
|        | 252-262 | $15 to $20 for renting a house before World War II.  |
|        | 263-268 | In 1939 the houses in Leimert Park cost only $7,000 to $8,000.   |
| END OF | TAPE 1  |  |

| Interviewee: Chung Moy Louie |
|------------------------------|
|------------------------------|

| Page | :   | 6    |     |
|------|-----|------|-----|
| Tape | . 2 | Side | e A |

| TimeSegment | CounterNumber  | Summary   |
|-----------------|--------------------|---|
| 1               | 000-005            | In the old days, most Chinese including CML used Chinese herbs for colds.   |
|                 | 006-017            | To visit a Chinese doctor cost $1.00 and 75 cents for the herbs.   |
|                 | 018-019            | Starting from 1934, CML used American doctors and American medicine because of the lack of good Chinese doctors, although the Chinese herbs were good.  |
|                 | 020-031            | Wife and children use American doctors.   |
| 2               | 032-034            | Wife was born in the United States, so does not use Chinese herbs for cooking. But a lot of old ladies use Chinese herbs for cooking to build a person up.  |
|                 | 035-041            | In the old days, cod liver oil ( 魚角 油 ) was widely used.  |
|                 | 042-046            | CML associated with Japanese, American, European, in the market area.   |
|                 | 047-052            | Socially, CML associated with all Chinese and speaks Sze Yup ( D ) with his Chinese friends.  |
|                 | 053-055            | CML does everything the American way now. But before World War II, CML felt more Chinese.   |
|                 | 056-060            | CML felt that if one stays in Chinatown, then he will do things the Chinese way.  |
|                 | 061-064            | CML still observes some Chinese customs, such as "ask the bride to pour the tea" (其 次 ) in the Chinese wedding banquets, etc.   |
| 3               | 065-071072-079 | CML does feel embarrassed for being Chinese. CML's parents always hoped the children would make enough  |
|                 |                    | money and return to China. The Chinese call it Lok YipGui Gun (治 京 成 ) which means "when the tree leavesdrop, they go back to their roots."   |
| -               | 080-085            | CML doesn't think of returning to China anymore.  |
|                 | 086-090            | During the years from 1925 to 1930, CML worked from 8:00 p.m. until the noon of the next day, or eighteen hours a day.  |
|                 | 091-098            | CML did not have much time to think of entertainment.   |
| ·               | 099-100            | In 1937, the market started the Union and the working hours became shorter. CML, being a boss, still worked 12 hours a day. If the other workers worked over eight hours, CML had to pay them overtime. |
| 4               | 101-104105-107 | Last 16 and 17 years, CML started working five days a week. When CML had extra time, he visited friends and participated  |
|                 | כדוסחד             | in family association activities.   |
|                 | 108-113114-121 | During the war, CML used to go to the movies, but not anymore CML used to like football. From 1950 to 1965, CML and his wife always purchased season tickets.   |

| Interviewee: Chung Moy Louie | Page: 7        |
|------------------------------|----------------|
| Contents (cont'd)            | Tape: 2 Side A |

| TimeSegment | CounterNumber  | Summary  |
|-----------------|--------------------|--|
| 5               | 122-144            | CML used to play mahjong (八本 打) but does not play any-more. He likes to play Chinese music.  |
|                 | 145-148            | CML joined the Louie Family Association, the Long Kong Association, Chung Wah CCBA (中華 ), as well as CACA.   |
|                 | 149-158            | CML's wife follwed CML to the associations' activities and was the chairwoman of the women's auxiliary. She was honored by the mayor as the Woman of the Month in 1976 for her contributions to the community. |
| 6               | 159-191192-200 | CML's wife used to work for different chain stores.  Most Chinese engaged in laundry, restaurant, produce business, in Southern California.  |
|                 | 201-210            | In Southern California, Chinese were specialized in vegetable farming, marketing.  |
|                 | 211-219            | Chinese liked to live in Chinatown, but the younger generation knows more English so they moved away from Chinatown  |
|                 | 220-226            | Chinese always lived close together before World War II. The older people did not know much English so they did not like to leave Chinatown.   |
| 7               | 227-242            | In the old days you don't find Chinese engineers, lawyers, and doctors. Now you can find many of them in any field.  |
|                 | 243-254            | Chinese moved to Silverlake not only because it was close to Chinatown, but also because Chinese were discriminated against in housing.  |
|                 | 255-260            | In 1953, CML couldn't buy a house in Leimert Park because the Orientals were excluded from the area.   |
| 8               | 261-295            | In 1957 nobody in Monterey Park wanted to sell the property to the Orientals. Since there was nobody buying property in Monterey Park, they had to sell the property to Chinese.                               |
|                 | 296-302            | Two bedrooms, one and a half baths, and a den, at that time was selling for $17,000 now costs about $150,000.  |
|                 | 303-311            | CML lived in Adam and Harvard in 1946, the sheriff handed him a letter and tried to evict him and claimed the area was for Caucasians only.  |
| 9               | 312-340            | During Sun Yat-Sen's revolution, there were Chinese supporting him.  |
|                 | 341-348            | Not too many Chinese got involved in politics because the Chinese did not have many chances.   |
|                 | 349-360            | Chinese were discriminated against in looking for jobs. Nowadays there is discrimination against Chinese still, but it is much better than it was in the early days.   |
| 10              | 361-394            | Even in Shanghai, China, there were signs in the park saying "Chinese and dogs are not allowed."   |
| END OF          | F SIDE A           | - 1 - 1  |

| Interviewee:_ | Chung |  | Louie | Pag | je: |
|---------------|-------|--|-------|-----|-----|
|---------------|-------|--|-------|-----|-----|

| Tape: 2 Side B |  |
|----------------|--|
|----------------|--|

| TimeSegment | CounterNumber  | Summary   |
|-----------------|--------------------|---|
| 1               | 000-005            | Chinese have done better than before because the Chinese have more chances.   |
| ·               | 006-016017-021 | In the produce market everybody was equal CML thought one can not compare Jewish people with Chinese people. Jewish people worked hard and continued building up. Chinese returned to China once they made some money. Chinese did not continue building up.                  |
| 2               | 022-034            | Most Chinese went back to China to get married before 1935.   |
| 2        | 035-044            | Most Chinese men preferred to marry Chinese born girls rather than American born Chinese who were too Americanized.   |
|                 | 045-051            | In the 1920's there were few Chinese men married to Caucasian girls.  |
|                 | 052-054            | Most Chinese thought intermarriage was exceptional. Those who married non-Chinese girls usually did not stay with Chinese that much.  |
| 3               | 055-072            | Nowadays, there are still few people that prefer son over daughter.   |
|                 | 073-076            | American born Chinese did not mind to have daughters rather than sons, but the people from China did prefer to have sons. Chinese felt that the son is yours forever while the daughter eventually goes to other people after they get married.                               |
| •               | 077-082            | Personally CML did not mind to have son or daughter.  |
|                 | 083-087            | A lot of people would like to send their children to Chinese school but couldn't because they were too far away from Chinatown.   |
|                 | 088-091            | CML's daughter didn't go to Chinese school because of the distance from Chinatown. Later his daughter did attend some Chinese courses in California State University.   |
|                 | 092-103            | In the old days, more than 50% of the Chinese returned to China. Because of the Communist, Chinese did not return to China.   |
| 4               | 104-121            | CML felt that Formosa [Taiwan] sooner or later will be taken by the Communists and hoped that the Communist will do good things for the people to make the country stronger. CML felt that if China gets stronger, there will not be so many Chinese coming and staying here. |
| 5               | 122-173            | Although Communist China is behind the times, if they work harder they will be strong again.  |
|                 | 174-179            | CML felt that if the Communists work hard, probably thirty years later there will be a lot of people going back to China.   |

| Interviewee: Chung Moy Louie | Page: 9        |
|------------------------------|----------------|
|                              | Tape: 2 Side B |
| Contents (cont'd)            |                |

| TimeSegment | CounterNumber  | Summary  |
|-----------------|--------------------|--|
|                 |                    |  |
| 6               | 180-185186-191 | CML's wife did not go to Chinese school but speaks Chinese. Besides the Chinese children from San Francisco Chinatown, Bakersfield Chinese children were the only ones who spoke Chinese. The Chinese children from the other cities did not speak Chinese at all. |
|                 | 192-196            | The living standard in China was so low that not many American born Chinese would like to return to China and live there.  |
|                 | 197-204            | Few American born Chinese actually went back to China to get married.  |
|                 | 205-220            | CML seldom watch movies, even Chinese movies.  |
| 7               | 221-229            | CML thought the Chinese movies were not well made.   |
|                 | 230-246            | Chinese did not have much choice in selecting jobs.  |
|                 | 246-247            | If the Chinese had a choice, they would have chosen to go into business.   |
|                 | 248-265            | Chinese sent the children to school and hoped they could get good jobs eventually.   |

END OF TAPE 2

NOTE: Starting from Counter Number 248 the voice that appears on the tape is not related to this Oral History Project, please ignore it.

LOUIE, Ching Moy INDEX

| Agriculture                          | Figure requerty  |
|--------------------------------------|--|
| crops, lA:1                          | Chinese v. American, 2A:2,3  |
| families involved in, 1A:1           | and intermarriage, 2B:2  |
| farm size, 1A:2,3                    |  |
| Japanese American farms compared     | Families and family life   |
| to Chinese American, 1A:2,3          | language spoken in, lA:10  |
| mechanization of, lA:4               | Family associations  |
| profitability of, lA:5-6             | dues and donations to, 1B:4  |
| unpopularity of, among Chinese       | and employment, 1B:4   |
| Americans, 1A:1,4                    | functions of, 18:4   |
| Arranged marriages                   | women's roles in, 2A:5   |
|                                      |  |
| arrangers, 1A:6                      | Friendships  |
| Automobiles, 1B:7                    | among other ethnic groups, 2A:2  |
| Banks and banking, 1B:6              | Gambling   |
| Business associations, 1B:3          | conflicts over, 1B:5   |
|                                      | games played, 1B:6   |
| Celebrations and holidays, 2A:2-3    | popularity of, 1B:6  |
| Chen family, lA:1                    | reasons for, 1B:5  |
| Children                             | Greek vegetable peddlers, lB:1   |
| preference for son, 2B:3             |  |
| China                                | Herbal medicine  |
| Chinese Americans in, 1A:8           | fee structure for, 2A:1  |
| Communist takeover of, 2B:4-5        | uses of, 2A:1,2  |
| discrimination in, 1A:8; 2A:10       | Western medicine compared to, 2A:1   |
| life-style in, 2B:6                  | Housing patterns   |
| money sent back to, lA:5             | Chinese American clustering, 2A:6,7  |
|                           |  |
| Chinatown (Los Angeles)              | and discrimination, 2A:7-9   |
| attraction of, 2A:7                  |  |
| population decline in, 2A:6          | Immigrants and immigration   |
| Chinese American Citizen's Alliance  | length of voyage, lA:1   |
| (CACA), 1B:4; 2A:5                   | mode of transportation, 1A:1   |
| Chinese Consolidate Benevolent Asso- | Incomes  |
| ciation (CCBA), 1B:3,4-5, 2A:5       | average of, 1A:4,5-6   |
| Chinese language                     | during Depression, 1B:7  |
| in businesses, 1A:9                  | expenses compared to, 1A:6   |
| decline in knowledge of, lA:10       | prewar v. postwar, 1B:7  |
| in homes, 1A:10                      | Interracial marriages  |
| Chinese schools, 2B:3                | and ethnic identity, 2B:2  |
| City Market, 1B:2                    | numbers of, 2B:2   |
| Depression (economic, 1929-1939)     |  |
| impact on Chinese Americans as com-  | Japanese Americans   |
| pared to other ethnic groups,        | agriculture among, 1A:2,3  |
| 1B:6-7                               | sojourning among, 1A:3   |
| and incomes, 1B:7                    | Jews   |
| Discrimination                       | Chinese Americans compared to, 2B:1  |
| in China, 2A:10                      | vegetable peddlers, 1B:1   |
| decline in, 2A:9-10                  | and the second contract of the second |
| in employment, 2A:9; 2B:6            | Kong Chow Association, 1B:3,4  |
| in housing, 2A:7-9                   | The other incorporation, and of a  |
| w                                    |  |

LOUIE, Chung Moy INDEX

| Labor unions, 2A:3                  | Music and musicians, 2A:5             |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Lafayette High School, 1A:2         |                                       |
| Leimert Park, Calif., 1B:7; 2A:7    | Ninth Street Elementary School, 1A:2  |
| Long Kong Family Association, 1B:4; |                                       |
| 2A:5                                | Occupation patterns                   |
| Louie, Chen, 1B:2                   | and discrimination, 2A:10; 2B:6       |
| Louie, Chung Moy                    | typical job, 2A:6,7                   |
| birth of, IA:2                      | •                                     |
| children of, 1A:7-8;9,10; 2A:1;     | Peddling                              |
| 2B:3                                | See Vegetable peddling                |
| courtship and marriage of, lA:6,    | Pickwick (?) store, IA:4              |
| 7,8                                 | Polítics                              |
| education of, 1A:2,8                | in China, 2A:9                        |
| emigration from China by, 1A:2      | in local government, 2A:9             |
| employment of, 1A:2,4-5; 2A:3-4     | Produce market                        |
| ethnic identity of, 2A:2,3          | chains of, 1A:4; 1B:1                 |
| father of, lA:1                     | language spoken in, 1A:9-10           |
| mother of, 1A:1                     | merchandise of, 1B:2                  |
| organizations involved in, 1B:3,4;  | partnership in, 1B:2                  |
| 2A:4,5                              | working hours in, 2A:3                |
| residences of, 1A:6,8-9; 2A:8-9     | Prominent families and individuals,   |
| return to China by, 1A:6-7          | 1B:5                                  |
| siblings of, 1A:5                   | Property ownership                    |
| wives of, 1A:6,7,8,10; 1B:4;        | and discrimination, 2A:8              |
| 2A:1-2,5-6; 2B:6                    | prices of, lB:7; 2A:8                 |
| Louie, Dan Sr., 1B:2                |                                       |
| Louie, Dan Jr., 1A:5                | Savings, 1B:6,7                       |
| Louie, Elwood, 1A:10                | Social activities, 2A:4-5             |
| Louie family, 1A:3; 1B:1            | Sojourning                            |
| Louie Family Association, 1B:3,4    | and Communist takeover of China, 2B:4 |
| Louie Jin, 1B:2                     | decline in, 2A:3; 2B:6                |
| Louie Produce Market, 1A:5; 1B:2    | among Japanese Americans, 1A:3        |
| See also Produce markets            | numbers involved in, 2B:4             |
| Louie Quan, 1B:2                    | reasons for, 1A:2-3                   |
| ~                                   | Sun Hui, China, 1A:1,2                |
| Mahjong, 2A:5                       | Sun Yat-Sen, 2A:9                     |
| Marriages                           | •                                     |
| in China, 2B:1                      | Tongs                                 |
| mate selection patterns in, 2B:2    | gambling among, 1B:5                  |
| Medical practices                   | wars among, 1B:5                      |
| Chinese medicine v. Western medi-   |                                       |
| cine, 2A:1                          | Vegetable peddling, 1A:4; 1B:1        |
| See also Herbal medicine            |                                       |
| Money                               | Women                                 |
| currency, 1A:6                      | in family associations, 2A:5          |
| savings, 1B:6,7                     | Wong family, 1A:11; 1B:5              |
| sent back to China, 1A:5            |                                       |
| Monterey Park, Calif., 2A:8         | Yee family, 1B:5                      |
| Movie industry, 2B:6                | •                                     |
|                                     |                                       |